PANCHAGAVYA GHRITHA

உடல் ஆரோக்யத்தை பேணுவதுடன் ஞாபக சக்தியை அதிகரிக்க வல்லது.

RS - 160, 620

Panchagavya gritha is an ayurvedic medicinal formulation. Known for its immense health benefits, it's reference has been made in various ancient Ayurvedic scriptures, namely, Charaka Samhita and Ashtanga Hrudayam.

Panchagavya gritha is prepared with 5 ingredients, all of which are derived from Desi cow- 1. Desi cow's milk (Gou dugdha), 2. Curd(Dadhi), 3. Cow's urine(Goumootra), 4. Cow dung extract(Goumaya rasa), and 5. Ghee(Grita). In the preparation process, ghee is heated and other ingredients- milk, cow's urine, cowdung extract and curd is added one after the other in this order and boiled well to reach the desired consistency and left to settle overnight. On the next day, it is boiled again till all the ingredients are well absorbed and only the ghee remains.

This procedure can be conducted in three ways- Mrudupaaka, Madhyamapaaka and Katupaaka. The gritha obtained from each of the three methods are used in healing different health issues.

Panchagavya gritha prepared through Mrudupaaka method is used mainly in Nasya Karma to treat Migraine, Sinusitis and other neurological issues.

The gritha obtained through Madhyamapaaka is used most oftenly for Snehapana (oral consumption). It helps in balancing the tri-doshas, i.e., vaata, pitta, kafa content in human body. It is effective in treating nervous system disorders, epilepsy, convulsions, histeria and other mental disorders. It strengthens the eyes, nerves and brain cells and detoxifies human body. It is also used in treating insomnia.

Panchagavya gritha consumed along with Punarnava and Bhoomi amla is found to be very effective in treating liver related diseases as well.

Dosage-

Take 1/2 to 1 spoon of gritha with a glass of lukewarm water or desi cow's milk in the morning and in the night

Caution-

Persons with respiratory diseases like asthma, pneumonia, wheezing and with weak digestion and diarrhoea are adviced to avoid oral consumption of the gritha.

Panchagavya gritha prepared under Katupaaka method is used in Abhyanga. This gritha can be applied over skin and is used to treat skin related problems like allergies, itchiness, eczema and infectious wounds.

With all the health benefits mentioned above, panchagavha gritha is surely one of the most effective formulations under Ayurvedic medical system.
